been duly installed in office, with, perhaps, a few exceptions Panama has been more unhealthy during the past few weeks than I have ever known it, and several deaths have taken place among those who were not thoroughly acclimated. The fevers that have prevailed were of a more malignant type than usual, some of which have been pronounced typhoid and yellow fever, either of which is bad enough. Three of the employes of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company have died at the company's works on one of the islands in the Bay of Panama, and an equal number on board the United States frigate Saranac; also some four persons—all strangers—in Panama. It is but nark that all who have died and been attacked with these fevers were either unacclimated or guilty of some imprudence.

The Pacific Mail Steamship Company have ordered Capt. Allan McLane, their agent at this place, to repair to Tehu antepec to make all necessary arrangements for despatching the first lot of passengers and mails that cross that route. Accordingly he sailed hence on the 16th inst. for Acapulco, where he is to meet the steamship Oregon, which is to be placed on the line between that place and Ventoea. The presumption is that Capt. McL. will make a thorough examination of the Tehuantepec route, its Pacific and Atlantic ports, &c., and report thereon to the

The steamship Hermann, belonging to the California, New York and European Steamship Company, has not arrived at this port yet, nor have the two hundred and fifty one of ceal ordered here for her arrived.

In a few mouths the railroad company will have running in the bay of Panama a steamtug. She will make occasional trips to ports in Central America, towing launches laden with merchandise from here and bringing back the products of that country. She will form a valuable auxiliary to the steamship Columbus and the new steamer the company are now building in New York.

Now, it is a well established fact here that the result was gratifying only to the partisans of the successful candidate for Governor and the American residents; but it was and still is exceedingly distasteful to the government party, who never ratified with any sort of unanimity the popular choice. Upon the contrary, they did all they could to ignore the popular choice, and openly taked of effecting their purpose by force of arms.

Noval Items—English Views of American Inaction on the Isthmus-Transit Steamer News, de., de.

Our harbor begins to look terribly warlike. The guns of the Roanoke, Saratoga, Devastation and Relief are frowning from their black muzzles horribly and ominously upon our wretched hovels, supported alone by a dense, malaric atmosphere. They are some slight assistance to the town at present, improving the otherwise starving efforts to keep up appearances. Whether here for good or ill for the future, the future will only determine. As the Roanoke came into port from Greytown on the 17th, the Devastation (English) gave her a salute of thirteen guns, which was handsomely returned by the Roanoke, the flag officer's ship, by the same number, in perfect and rapid succession.

From all the reports we have seen respecting the affair, the Peruvian Minister is entirely to blame.

(Callao (Sept. 27) Correspondence of Panama Herald.] It was generally supposed throughout Feru that in case Castilla were elected he would be allowed to serve the new presidential term of four years, but this hope was a vain one—already coming events are easting their shadows before them. That the present difficulty with Eonador will lead to a counter-revolution no one can for one moment doubt, and Ecuador will receive all the assistance that can possibly be given by the oid parties of Echenique and Vivanco, while in Bolivia the Echenique party is also busy; arms and ammunition of war have recently been sent to Bolivia by speculators, and what looks more ominous still is that the different parties are all becoming united, and are about to bury their causes of discord, and unite against the common enemy. ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE THE PRESIDENT-TWO OF HIS FRIENDS SHOT DEAD BY HIS SIDE-INSURRED

HIS PRIENDS SHOT DEAD BY HIS SIDE—INSURRECTION IN THE CAPITAL Boiling continues in a distorbed state. An attempt was trade at La Paz to assassinate the President, from which he was miraculorally saved—Gen. Prod. neito and St. Birbuet, who stood beside him, being both shot dead. In order to execute their plan, the revolutionists, knowing that the President was in the palace, premented themselves in the square in front of it, giving the alarm and procaming Gen. Dezu, who, as is well known, at present resides in Europe.

The President, accompanied by Gen. Prodencio and this S. Birboet, presented himself on the balcony, and a well directed shot struck his two companions, who expired in Les arms.

A cry of general indignation has resounded throughout the country; and it is believed that this sangulary at-tempt will strengthen still more Sr. Linares' administra-tion, so deserving of the love and gratitude of his coun-trymen. The persons implicated in the attempt have been tried and convicted, and will soon be executed.

PROBABLE WAR WITH PERU—RETIREMENT OF THE UNITED STATES MINISTER—A TRIBUTE TO NORTH AMERICANS.

Ecuador sends us little news, except about the talked of invasion by Peru. War between Peru and Ecuador is an event likely to occur. Unless the good offices of some friendly Power is interposed it would appear inevitable. The government of Peru have despatched troops to the north, the object being, it is supposed, to occupy Tumbes as a military post, should the two nations really resort to hostilities. While Peru is making these warlike demonstrations, Ecuador is equally active in bringing out her forces. Already she has at Guayaquii 3,500 troops under arms, and 10,000 at various other points. These forces are commanded by General Urbina, late President of the republic.

As to the causes that have given rise to the belligerent attitude assumed by both nations towards each other, it is very evident that Peru is in the wrong. The facts are briefly these:—For some years there has been a question of boundary or limits between the two countries, until Peru has had the audacity to lay claim to over one-third of the whole of the territory of Ecuador, which she has been in peaceful and undisputed possession of for many years, ever since she took her place among the family of nations. It could not be expected that Ecuador would accede to such pretensions.

ever since she took her place among the family of nations. It could not be expected that Ecuador would accede to such pretensions.

But this is only the ostensible ground of the difference. The real cause is to be traced to the officious interference of the Peruvian Minister to Ecuador in the matter of a claim of $300,000 recently set up by Gen. Flores against Ecuador, for alleged confiscation of his property. Flores, it will be recollected, was once President of the republic, and was banished from the country. In 1852 he fitted out a fillbuster expedition against Ecuador, which he attempted to land at Guayaquil, but was driven back by the government troops stationed at that place, and soon after abandoned his scheme to regain his former position. He subsequently prevailed upon the government of Venezuela, of which country he is a native, to make a formal demand on Ecuador for the amount of his claim. Accordingly a person is accredited to Ecuador as Minister from Venezuela, who, although a native of the latter country, is virtually, if not in reality, a citizen of Peru, as he has resided there some twenty-five years—quite long enough to lose his former nationality.

This circumstance, added to the no less significant fact that the Peruvian Minister took sides with the Venezuelan Minister, as well as from the notorious fact that Peru wished to insult and degrade them. A sharp correspondence ensued, which resulted in the withdrawal of the Peruvian Minister from the capital of Ecuador that Peru wished to insult and degrade them. A sharp correspondence cusued, which resulted in the withdrawal of the Peruvian Minister from the capital of Ecuador to Guayaquil, where he now is, awaiting instructions from his government, which it is supposed will contain her ultimatum. Two Peruvian ships of war have just arrived at Guayaquil, bringing, it is thought, the looked for despatches. Thus the affair stands at present.

reial Treaty with France-What the French Ex ecutive Gains in Power and Trade Duties-Loss to the King's Revenue-Russian Interference with American Whalers-Bad News from the Whaling Fleet in the Arctic

The last mail from Hopolulu brought important intelligence, dated on the 16th of September. A new treaty has en ratified with France. It is considered by the Adverfiser oppressive and unjust to a weak nation, and is con demned by citizens of every class.

The main points yielded to France are—that the French language is to be placed on a level with the English; the duty on liquors to be reduced from $5 to $3 a gallon; duty on liquors to be reduced from $5 to $3 a gallon; French vessels in the Hawaiian kingdom are to be placed on the same footing as Hawaiian; the French Consul is allowed to exercise judicial functions belonging of right to the Hawaiian courts. It is believed, also, that under the second paragraph, Art. II., "a Frenchman can claim the privilege to trade in foreign goods from place to place in a French vessel, with or without license, and carry all the Hawaiian passengers he may choose from port teaport, without let or hindrance." And that under the 15th Article, which reads:—French whale ships shall be subjected to the same rules as are or may be imposed on, and shall enjoy in all respects the same rights, privileges and immunities which are or may be granted to the same Flavaiian vessels and whale ships, or to those of the most

The treaty was first rejected by the King, and the peo-ple of Honoidu were so much rejoiced that one hundred guns were fired over the event. The Advertiser says the ratification of the treaty was effected by a trick, in at-taching to it a supplementary article as a 'rider,' which no one believes the French Emperor will sign or even notice. This article being rejected, the treaty will be con-sidered in full force. The enforcement of the treaty, it is supposed, will cause an annual loss in the revenue of the Hawaiian kingdom of between thirty and forty thousand dollars.

The principal objection to the treaty is, that it virtually abnegated the sovereignty of the Sandwich Islands. French commerce with the islands is very small, but it seems to be the intention of Napoleon to counteract the influence of England and the United States in the Pacific seems to be the intention of Napoleon to counteract the influence of England and the United States in the Pacific ocean.

We have received a report that the Russians had interfered with the American whaiers in the Okhotsk sea. The Honolulu Advertiser has been informed by Captain Fontius, of the bark Caroline, who recently arrived from the Arctic ocean, that "the whaleship Contest had been boarded by a Russian man of war steamer (probably the Vostock, the same vessel from which the story emanated last year), and had been warned from trading with the natives for furs, and from whaling within a distance of three leagues from the shore. The captain of the steamer informed Captain Ludlow that the Russians had quite a number of war vessels in the Okhotsk Sea, and intended to provent American whalemen from catching whales in the bays on the Siberial coast. The steamer mentioned was bound to the Okhotsk, and from thence into the Arctic Ocean." A different story is told by Captain Bryant, of the America, now at Honolulu, who says "he was boarded by an officer from a Russian steamer in Rhering's Strait, close in with the land, whose professed object was merely to ascertain the name of the ship and amount of oil on board. Captain B. does not appear to create an energy to ascertain the name of the ship and amount of oil on board. Captain B. does not appear to exertain the belief that the Russians have no intention or desire to interfere with Americans. A report of precisely the same nature was made last year, but it turned out to be wholly incorrect.

the same nature was made last year, but it turned out to be wholly incorrect.

Gen. Miller, the English Consul at Honolulu, left for Valparaiso September 9, on the sloop of war Wabarmah. A correspondent of the Alia California, writing from Honolulu September 15, gives the following news from the whaling ground:—

The intelligence from the whaling fleet cruising in the Arctic ocean and Bristol Bay presents rather a gloomy picture. Up to the latter part of August 700 barrels was the best catch reported in the Arctic, and many ships had absolutely nothing, while the average would not be over 150 barrels to each ship. In Bristol Bay, up to August 5, but one whale had been seen, and you may depend that he was pretty well chased, though, being an old cruiser, he managed to escape with a few irons in his back.

Subasquent to the 5th, Capt. Brown, of the Electra, arrived this morning, reports that he saw whales in great plenty, but that the weather was such as to prevent fastening to them.

plenty, but that the weather was such as to prevent fastening to them.

The probability is that the Okhotsk fleet, numbering some sixty ships, will made what the whalemen term a good cut—that is, get plenty of oil. On behalf of Honoing this is to be deceutly hoped for, as our business prosperity depends mainly upon the continued success of the hardy whalemen who come to our harbors to refresh after the toils and hardships of the ley north.

So far, we have heard of but one ship as having been lost—the Napoleon III., of Havre, a noble large vessel, which, with about 1,200 barrels of oil on board, was cut through by the ice in the Arctic. Some 700 or 800 barrels of the oil had been saved by the American vessels the Braganiza and Hercules.

The Kodlack fleet has done very well, compared with those in the Arctic and British Bay. The season there, however, was short, and most of the ships will proceed with as little delay as possible to the New Zealand couraing grounds, possibly picking up a sperm whale on the way, and returning to these islands in about the month of march, to refit for the north.

ENCITING ADVENTURES OF HER CAPTAIN—A MODERN ROBINSON CRUSCE—HIS LIFE IN PITCAIRN'S ISLAND—EXILDING A BOAT IN AN UNINHARITED FLACE.

A correspondent of the San Francisco Herald, writing from Tahiti, August 13, says —
The sloop-of-war Vandalia, Capt. Sinclair, arrived here on the 10th inst., having on board Capt. J. N. Knowles, late master of the ship Wild Wave, which left. San Francisco on the 2th of February last for Vaiparaiso. She was lost on the Island of Oneo, about seventy-five miles northwest of Pitcairn's, on the 5th of March, at 1½ o'clock A. M. The captain was fortunate enough to land all his crew in safety, with the provisions of the ship, and $40,000 in gold; and what is strange, but true, the crew were ignorant of the gold being landed.

The captain, after remaining on the Island for ten days, started in one of the boats for Pitcairn's Island, expecting to procure relief there, but found the Island unimhabited, the colony having been removed to Norfolk Island.

At Pitcairn's the captain, had the misfortune to lose his boat in the surf; consequently be, together with his mate,

J. F. Bartiett, and two men who were with him, were compelled to cut down trees and build a boat before they could leave the island. This could not have been done, but that the islanders left some tools behind them, as well as tar, cakum and sail cloth. When the boat was built they started for this place, but in consequence of head wind, they made Noukaheva, one of the Marquesas group, at which place they fell in with the Vandalia, which brought them here.

The Vandalia, after obtaining food and water, left here yesterday for the purpose of saving the balance of the crew of the Wild Wave. The captain of the Wild Wave leaves here on the 16th, on board of the French man-of-war Eurydice, for San Francisco via Honolulu. I forgot to mention that the captain saved his gold, and has it with him.

STATEMENT OF CAPTAIN KNOWLES.

Left San Francisco February 9, 1858, bound to Valparaiso. Had easterly winds after leaving San Francisco, which forced the ship to the westward, beyond the usual track. On the night of March 4, about one o'clock, steering south, discovered breakers on the lee bow; attempted to go about, when the ship misstayed, and in wearing struck on a coral reef, which, by observation the next day was found to be in latitude 24 deg. I min S., longitude 130 deg. 53 min. W. The reef surrounds an island set down on the chart as Oneo, placed in longitude 130 deg. 37 min. In the morning effected a landing on the island, which was a low lagoon sistand, with a small growth of brushwood, but no inhabitants. Soon after the ship struck she bilged, and lay over on her beam ends, the surf breaking over her. Saved a few provisions, instruments, &c. Remained on the island ten days, during which time, owing to the heavy surf, was not able to board the ship only two days.

ments, &c. Remained on the island ten days, during which time, owing to the heavy surf, was not able to board the ship only two days.

About March 14, the captain, first effect and five men left the island in a life boat, taking with them $12,000 in specie, which they had succeeded in saving, and proceeded to Pickain's Island, about seventy-five miles distant, with the hope of falling in with a whaler. On arriving at Pitcairn's, experienced great difficulty in landing; had the boat stove in the breakers, and found the island destitute of inhabitants, these having left for Norfolk Island two years previous. Found wild goats and some vegetables growing on the island, upon which they subsisted four months. During this time, with some old tools, which were found among the deserted habitations, they constructed, with great labor, hewing the timber from the trees of the island, a boat about thirty feet in length, fastened partly with wooden pegs and partly with iron, in which, having succeeded in launching her on the 23d July, Capt. Knowles, the first officer (J. F. Bartlett), and two men, embarked from Pitcaira's Island for Tahuit, three men preferring to remain. Met a heavy gale from the northwest, which, lasting three days, forced them to steer for Noukaheva, Marquesas Islands, distance 1,200 miles, where they arrived on the 4th of August. There they found the United States ship Vandalia, Capt. S. and officers treated the shipwrecked party with true hospitality, and made all expedition in proceeding to the rescue of those who still remained at Oneo, numbering thirty one persons, all told. At Tahiti Capt. Knowles remained on shore, the first officer proceeding in the Vandalia to the wreck of the Wind Wave. From Tahiti Capt. Knowles remained on shore, the first officer proceeding in the Vandalia to the wreck of the Wind Wave. From Tahiti Capt. Knowles came passenger in the St. Louis from Saptember.

The Supposed Murder in Brondway.

HARGE OF PERJURY AGAINST THE COMPLAINANT—THE PRISONER PROBABLY WILL BE DIS-CHARGED-EVIDENCE OF THE PRISONER'S NEGRO At ten o'clock vesterday morning the case of Robert L.

Willis, charged with having murdered a man in his alleged gambling saloon on Broadway, was brought up before Justice Connolly, in the Tombs.

Catharine Mulhearn, upon whose evidence the prosecu tion principally rests, was again placed upon the stand.

Her testimony was chiefly a reiteration of what has already been published. She described the position of the cistern at No. 581 Broadway, denied having stolen anything from Mrs. Willis, and declared that Henry, the colored man, was scrubbing the floor on the morning of the 22d o September, at five o'clock. The persons in the store adjoining the house had access to the yard and cistern. The counsel for the accused stated that the witness Catharine Mulhearn, stood there charged with larceny felony, and the ball should be commensurate only with the crime with which she stood there charged. He be-lieved he could prove, by the oath of five witnesses, Henry Clark, Robert L. Willis, Sarah Willis, Mrs. Mary Ann Rockiff, and James A. Duffy, a policeman, that she was guilty of one of the highest crimes known to the law—that of perjury. and is under bail. The crime was of a grade less than level he could prove, by the oath of new witnesses, Henry Cark, Robert L. Willis, Sarah Willis, Mrs. Mary Ann Rockiff, and James A. Dutry, a policeman, that she was guilty of one of the highest crimes known to the law—that of perjury.

Justice Connolly declined hearing such a charge at that stage of the proceedings, and intimated that the counsel made it to intimidate the witness.

The prisoner's counsel them inquired whether Mulhearn should be required to furnish further bail, declaring that he feared she would forfeit her bail and abscend. The application was refused.

The prisoner's counsel them inquired whether Mrs. Rockiff would be placed on the stand, and whether the Justice had been advised not to examine her. The Justice replied that the manner in which she had conducted herself in court on Saturday, making the voluntary statement which she made, had shown it to be inadvisable to employ her as a witness.

Henry Clark (colored) being duly sworn, said—Have resided at 581 Broadway; resided there fourteen months; was a servant of Mr. Willis; my duty was to attend the door, go of errands, keep the upper part of the house clean, and the lower entry leading from the front door to the back stairs; I remember the night of the 19th of September last; I was there; I retired to bed between three and four o'clock in the morning; I sat up till so cariy because there were some gentlemen in the parlor—about hair a dozen of them; they went away between three and four o'clock not be morning or dud did not fink any liquor in the house that night; none of them were under the influence of liquor; there was no quarreling or loud noise in the house that night; none of them were under the influence of liquor; there was no quarreling or loud noise in the house that night; none of them were under the influence of liquor; there was no duarreling or loud noise in the house that night; none of them were under the minence of the own business; I never had any conversation with leave and would be the house for the house of the house a wall or speke to Cutharine Mulhearn about acrubbing a wall or floor during her residence there; I never saw or heard any disturbance in that house during my residence there.

Re-direct examination—Q. What business was carried on in that house? Question objected to. Court sustained the question.

The counsel for Robert Willis desired the Court to instruct the witness that he need not answer the question if it would tend to eriminate himself. The Court did so. The witness answered that no business was carried on in that house that he knew of.

Re-cross-examination—Mr. Willis lets out rooms in that house; there or four gentlemen have rooms there; since I have been a prisoner neither Mr. Willis, his wife, nor any one else has spoken to me how to testify in the case. The witness was then discharged.

Ann Mulhearn sworn—I reside at No. 192 East Tweifth street; I know the premises No. 581 Broadway; I live with John Blake; my sister lived at that house as a domestic; I visited my sister on a Thursday, between seven and eight o'clock P. M.; she told me then that they murdered a man there on Sunday night; she told me to come out to the cistern and she would show me the man in it, and I remarked to her no; then she came up the stairway and showed me the blood upon the right hand side of it; I told her she should never sleep there another night, so she left with me; she wanted to go to the City Hall and publish it; I told her no, it would be like it was in the Dr. Burdeli case—everyhody who was mixed up with it would be put in the To mbs; this conversation occurred the night she left the house less left the house because the murder was committed, and it was a gambling house besides.

Cross examined—I am not married; I don't know how old I am; I am about twenty sky years old; I can read; I can't write, I can't say how often I have talked of this murder with Judge Omnolly; I did not see any blood or the floor; I spoke to Judge Stuart about it; I did not talk to any other person about it. I did not talk to any other person ab

Broadway; I am accused o stealing clothes of Mrs. Willis, Judge Stuart is my lawyer on my trial for stealing. Re-direct examination—It was more than a week after sister left 581 Broadway before she was arrested; no one ever spoke to me about stealing from Mr. Willis till after I was arrested.

The counsel for the accused moved that the accused be discharged, as there was no proof against him.

The Court desired to adjourn the case, because of the absence of the District Attorney. Upon the present testimony he did not consider that the prisoner ought to be long detained.

The counsel for the prisener asked Mr. Seigwick, the prosecuting attorney, who entered the room for a moment, if he (Sedgwick) knew of any other testimony that could be introduced against the prisoner.

Mr. Sedgwick answered he knew of none.

The counsel for the accused again moved for the discharge of his client, and held that under the present evidence the Court would be liable for false imprisonment if the prisoner was longer detained.

The Court said that his statement was that he had no more evidence present, but he expected more; a police officer was looking for other witnesses, and it was expected they would be produced.

The case was then adjourned till Thursday next.
